at your feet Debuts At The 2008 PGA Merchandise Show in Orlando, Florida

Virginia Beach, VA – (December 4, 2007) – AYF Designs, LLC is proud to announce the upcoming debut of its revolutionary new golf training aid, at your feet, at the 2008 PGA Merchandise Show in Orlando, Florida, January 2008.

On Wednesday, January 16, 2008, the first day of the four-day event, attendees will be afforded the opportunity to experience at your feet first hand at Demo Day. AYF Designs will be one of an exclusive group of approximately 80 exhibitors at Demo Day, which is billed as the largest trade demo day in the world and will be held outdoors at Orange County National Golf Center and Lodge in nearby Winter Garden, Florida. At our hitting bay, PGA professionals, buyers and media, will be able to strap on an at your feet unit, step up to the tee and hit away!

For the three days following Demo Day (January 17-19, 2008), you will find the AYF Designs team at Booth 1876 at the main 2008 PGA Merchandise Show held under roof at the Orange County Convention Center. In this setting, PGA professionals, buyers and media will again have an opportunity to review and discuss this unique new practice aid with the creator, John Mamoudis, and his design and marketing team.

If you are attending the 2008 PGA Merchandise Show, please make Booth 1876 your first stop to review the training aid that reinforces tips from your trainer and works with every other swing trainer and teaching device.

You're just a foot away from a better golf game. See you at Booth 1876 in January!
